

OUTDOOR LIVING SCREEN TIME

Practical and plush. That's what designer Susie Prince had in mind for the screen porch she and her husband, Victor, added on to their small Atlanta home.

She topped the stained concrete floor (practical) with a rug and other furnishings that offer indoor comfort (plush). "The porch is happy and bright, with nature visible everywhere," Susie says.

After a day digging in flowerbeds, the couple eats at the midcentury reproduction dining table and chairs.

“This is our de-stress zone nearly year-round. We essentially doubled our home’s dining and living room space by adding it.”

► SMART SLANT

Susie designed the midcentury modern-inspired structure with a shed roof that rises to 12 feet. “It extends our views since the yard goes uphill,” she says. A contractor perfected the pitch and added a roof cricket that directs water to gutters.

◀ GROUND LEVEL

Tearing out a deck and tiled patio under it cleared the way for a 25×12-foot concrete pad. A 5-foot-wide uncovered area allows grilling space.
