

Stand & DELIVER

Put your holiday desserts on a pedestal and give them the star turn they deserve.

For stunning seasonal dessert ideas like these, visit BHG.com/Thanksgiving Desserts.

If you're low on space, look up. Stack a small cake stand on a larger one.

● GRANNY CHIC Delicate florals and a scalloped edge are a little playful, a little nostalgic. Famille Rose Cake Stand, $102; williams-sonoma.com
 ● DEEP HUES The classic silhouette works with a range of tablescapes, but it's the moody eggplant color that makes cookies and treats stand out. 9" Cake Plate in Eggplant, $50; mosserglass.com ● WORK OF ART A decorative shape, a sophisticated color combo, and a petite size ideal for double-decking—this handcrafted number has it all. Carmella Cake Stand, $28; anthropologie.com ● UNDERSTATED GLAM Even brownies, blondies, and bars feel fancy when displayed on this mod pedestal in gold-tone stainless steel. Metal Cake Stand, $25; hm.com ● STATUESQUE BEAUTY Stiletto-high and lipstick-red, this stand elevates single-level desserts to dramatic heights. Colette Glass Cake Stand in Red, $99 for stand and glass cloche; frontgate.com ● CONVERSATION PIECE The generous 12" plate's creamy swirls look like marble or alabaster, and the base resembles glazed terra-cotta, but the whole thing is made of on-trend (and durable) poured resin. Tonal Resin Cake Stand by Nashi Home, $125; food52.com ■

FOOD STYLING: GREG LUNA